

43rd FEDERAL ELECTION OFFICE POOL

Run your own 2019 Canadian Election office pool. Print this template out, gather your politico friends, put some money up (or don't) and enjoy the ride between now and October 21!

Suggested Prize Payout Structure: The most points wins. 1st place: 60% of prize pool, 2nd place: 30%, 3rd place: remaining 10%.

GENERAL - 1 POINT EACH	LIB.	CON.	NDP	GREEN	PPC
Canada's next Prime Minister will represent which party?
Which party will form the Official Opposition?
Which party will win the popular vote?

YES OR NO - 1 POINT EACH	YES	NO
Excluding a coalition government, will the upcoming election result in a clear majority government?
In 2011 and 2015, voter turnout was 61.4% and 68.5%, respectively. Will the voter turnout in the upcoming election be 68% or higher?
Women currently make up 27% of the seats in the House of Commons and 40% of candidates in this upcoming election are women. Will women win 25% or more seats in the House?
Conservative candidate and country music star George Canyon is running against Liberal incumbent Sean Fraser in Central Nova Scotia. Currently projections put them neck and neck. Will George Canyon defeat Sean Fraser?
Will either Jody Wilson-Raybould or Jane Philpott win a seat?
Will the Liberals win a seat (or more) in Alberta?
Will the Conservatives win a seat (or more) in PEI or Newfoundland?
Will the NDP win a seat (or more) in Quebec?
Will the Green Party win 3 seats (or more) in Canada?
Will the Bloc win more seats than the NDP across Canada?
Will PPC's win a seat (or more) in Canada?

OUT OF THE 338 SEATS UP FOR GRABS, HOW MANY WILL EACH PARTY WIN?
Liberals	(5 points)
Conservatives	(5 points)
NDP	(2 points)
Bloc	(2 points)
Greens	(2 points)
PPC	(1 point)
Independents	(1 point)

Name:

Total Points: